

European Day of Languages

There are loads of events organized on the occasion of celebration of the European language day around Europe, like special lessons, TV and radio programmes, lessons of foreign languages and conferences. Our school celebrates this day in many different ways. This year we celebrated it on September 25: one could listen and enjoy different music pieces representing different cultures of Europe during each break as well as slides showing the different countries of Europe, students participated in the contest of drawing the posters of polite language words from different European languages, so the exhibition of them was arranged both in the entrance hall and on the notice board of the first floor. But the most exciting part of the celebration took place during the long break after four lessons in the yard of the school. Students danced according to different tunes representing different nations of Europe. The movements were prepared by teacher of dance Neringa Vekeriotaitė and her students, they showed the movements of Irish jig, Greek Sirtaki, Russian Kalinka, Spanish Makarena and Lithuanian 'Bitute pilkoji' dances. Though it started raining during the break, still there were lots of students and teachers enjoying dancing in the rain, which symbolised the unity of the community of the school and good emotions prevailed.
